

Off to the Spreewald Delta! Our summer customer event 2018.

This year again, our customers embarked with us on a discovery journey into the beautiful saxony countryside - into the Spreewald.

Since 1991, the Spreewald has been a UNESCO protected biosphere reserve. Formed as an inland delta after the Ice Age, the Spreewald has been a tourist attraction for over a hundred years.

Already in 1859 Theodor Fontane stated on Spreewald in his travel stories through the Brandenburg country side:

And that the network of these Spree channels.
Nothing missing from the magic of Venice.
Run through the endless river delta,
in his boat the Spreewalds gondolier.

So we felt like Theodore Fontane this Saturday, with our „Gondolier“ Peter.

We enjoyed the tranquility in the Spree river delta, enjoyed the typical Spreewald food and of course the Spreewald cucumber was not missing.

During a guided tour through the “Spreewald Freilandmuseum LEHDE” we learned a lot about the "Wendish culture" (also Lower Sorbian culture) and the most important thing: all enjoyed leisure time together!

A wonderful day with many new impressions and nice conversations!
